LabourNet in association with Rotary India launched 'Saksham', an initiative to train widows

LabourNet, a National Skill Development Corporation (NSDC) partner, signs an MOU with Rotary South Asia Society for Development and Cooperation to provide vocational education to 8000 widows. The programme named 'Saksham' launched at the Rotary South Asia Literacy Summit held in Chennai on 4th March 2017 to ensure sustainable livelihood to 8,000 widows in eight states, namely Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Delhi, Gujarat, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan and West Bengal. The Rotary India Literacy Mission has a program for educating and empowering Adults, whereas, LabourNet provides courses on skill development that generates employment or entrepreneurship. In view of the synergy between the programs of the organizations, both the organizations decided to come together to implement 'Saksham'. It is expected that 90% of women trained under 'Saksham' will be entrepreneurs or in full time jobs with fruitful incomes at the end of the training.

"The MOU will ensure quality vocational education to the widows, paving the way for a better future. It would not just provide sustainable livelihood to these women, but also help them to overcome the social stigma attached to a widow," said Dr. Gayathri Vasudevan, Co-Founder & CEO of LabourNet Services.

According to Mr. Shekhar Mehta, Spokesperson of Rotary International, "The primary objective of this MOU is to empower not just widows, but single mothers and unmarried daughters of widows too by skilling them through various programs run by LabourNet. Presently, we have initiated the program in eight states. Going forward, we wish to bring all the states into our fold and empower 1000 widows in each state, enabling them to earn a decent livelihood or start their own enterprise."
